EMC Receives Quantum Award for Real-Time and Download Advocacy

DES MOINES, Iowa (March 28, 2013) — EMC Insurance Companies was awarded the Quantum Award for making “great strides in increasing real-time transactions for their organization to push the industry forward,” at the recent Network of Vertafore Users (NetVU) Conference. The Quantum Award recognizes carriers that have made a definitive commitment to NetVU member agencies to offer superior workflow productivity and profitability on both the regional and national level.

The following is an excerpt from the NetVU press release:

EMC Insurance continues to make great strides in increasing Real-Time transactions for their organization to push the industry forward. As this year’s regional award recipient, they have diligently implemented the Real-Time and download technology their agents have requested to help them be more efficient and competitive. They have also encouraged their agents to implement these improved workflows and has helped to train them, working closely with the user groups and agency management system vendors.

Whether it's streamlining workflows or implementing current electronic data interchange, the number of agencies using download has grown due to EMC’s efforts. Agents see EMC as being at the forefront of technology because they are always looking for ways to make agents more efficient and improve the agent experience.
