

Hazard Communication Module 2 Answers

1. OSHA PELs, ACGIH TLVs and other exposure limits can be found on the MSDS for the specific chemical.

True

False

2. The common terms used in MSDSs can be located in the OSHA glossary.

True

False

3. A MSDS describes all of the following except?

Control measures

Physical and health hazards

Physical and chemical properties

Where to buy chemicals

Precautions

4. Which of the following describes a MSDS?

Comprehensive document

Prepared by the manufacturer, distributor or importer

Describes hazards of chemicals

All of the above

5. The manufacturer information is required to be on the MSDS.

True

False

6. Emergency and first-aid procedures are not listed on the MSDS.

True

False

7. The purpose of the MSDS is?

To collect dust in a binder

To advertise a particular manufacturer

To aid in product selection, describe characteristics and hazards and ensure effective response to exposures

To inform employees about upcoming chemical modifications

8. MSDSs should be written in English at a minimum.

True

False

9. What is the definition of a MSDS?

Material Safety Data Sheet

Material Storage Date Sheets

Macaroni, Sausage, Doughnuts and Salami

Management Shrinking Downsizing Stuff

10. The primary routes of entry are not required to be on the MSDS.

True

False