

Indoor Air Quality

Have any of your employees claimed that their work environment is affecting their health? Or perhaps you've received complaints of mysterious odors that can't be tracked down. EMC can help by conducting an indoor air quality investigation to identify the source of the issue and provide recommendations for resolving it. Upon request, our industrial hygienists can review the results with your staff or healthcare providers.

Employees May Report:

Allergy-type symptoms

Headaches

Strange odors

"Mystery" illnesses

Possible Culprits:

Mold and water intrusion

Chemical fumes

Inadequate air exchange

Malfunctioning HVAC system

Neighboring businesses

EMC's Investigative Tools:

Employee interviews

Air monitoring equipment

Thermal imaging

Laboratory analysis
